

Subject: FW: FW: The Real Deal storySherzai <HSherzai@downtownla.com>
From: "Nick Griffin" <NGriffin@downtownla.com>
Date: 07/08/2016 10:15 AM
To: "Carol Schatz" <cschatz@ccala.org>

Carol,

Jack Skelley, who is writing our Innovate DTLA report, told me about the story below that you might want to weigh in on.

Thanks.

Nick

From: Jack Skelley [mailto:jackskelley@jspira.com]
Sent: Thursday, July 07, 2016 7:50 PM
To: Nick Griffin <NGriffin@downtownla.com>
Subject: The Real Deal story

Hi Nick -

As I mentioned this morning, The Real Deal is doing a story on Eric Garcetti and development, and is seeking 3rd party quotes. It may be good for Carol (or you), or it may be too much of a hot potato. Here is the story:

As the City prepares to update its planning, to what degree is Mayor Garcetti pro- or anti-development? The anti-development groups certainly portray him as pro-development. So the publication will examine this claim. It may also compare Garcetti with Antonio Villaraigosa.

The story relates also to the competing planning initiatives. Let me know if you'd like me to connect Carol with reporter Catherine Chen. She is reporting on it through next week, so it's not super urgent.

Here's a similar story about Mayor de Blasio from The Real Deal New York earlier this year:

http://therealdeal.com/issues_articles/real-estates-love-hate-relationship-with-de-blasio/best,

JACK SKELLEY
President
310-490-4220

 JSPR

— image001.jpg —

— Attachments: —

image001.jpg

2.9 KB